Energy-Efficient Homes

Michigan Valley Homes has been building airtight mechanically-ventilated homes for over 30 years. Long before it was fashionable.

As a pioneer in the energy efficiency sector, our legacy and reputation is centered around building you the most healthy home one can have...enter, the "Health Home System."

Building a healthy home means breathability. Offering the proper balance of airflow into and out of the home. An energy-efficient home requires a high level of insulation, airtightness, thermal break controlled ventilation, and a competent building contractor who will design this house as a system and build it with expert craftsmanship at the right price.

Lake Home Design & Build

A great lake home begins with a smart, functional, aesthetically pleasing design. If you're thinking about having a new lake home built, or a remodel project for your existing lake home, meet with an expert in the beginning.

Michigan Valley Homes has a reputation for paying special attention to the unique challenges of building a new home on a lakefront. Michigan Valley Homes will work with you for the best site development to maintain your beautiful lake view and functionality.

Remodeling Services

Your needs change and so can your living space. Michigan Valley Homes can help you find the inspiration you need to redesign your current home.

During the remodeling process, you will be given the same superior customer service, thoughtful design, and attention to detail as our new home-building customers enjoy.

Testimonials

“From our very first meeting and throughout the process, we were treated with great respect and professionalism. We always felt that Vic understood our vision for our kitchen. We got good advice and terrific workmanship. The subcontractors and workers showed up when they said they would, and they carefully tended to all the details of the complex remodel. Best of all, the project was completed on time, and we were able to prepare the family Thanksgiving dinner in our new kitchen!”

– Diane H.

“Two members of our family suffer from multiple chemical sensitivity, and as a result, we couldn’t continue to live in our old house. Now, thanks to Michigan Valley Homes’ understanding of the situation, knowledge, and fine work, we live in a beautiful, safe house – and our health is improving every day! On top of that, we have the best-built house in our neighborhood!”

– Barb and Gary

“The decision to hire Michigan Valley Homes as our general contractor was made as a result of their reputation on the lake for quality, beauty of design, and state-of-the-art energy efficient technologies. Once construction began, we observed the carpenters, crew, and various sub-contractors adhering to the high standard of quality for which MVH is known. We were extremely satisfied with our home and the entire building experience.”

– Dave H.

“Quality and attention to detail were featured every step of our renovation. Now we have a home where we can age in place, with safety features incorporated in the design, work areas conveniently located on the main floor, and low-maintenance finishes throughout. Vic again demonstrated his skill, dedication, talent, and trustworthiness in completing this renovation project for us.

We are most grateful.”

– Gary and Janelee V.
